NAVAL BLOCKADE IMPERILS CHINA

COURT APPEAL MADE SOFTER BY ROOSEVELT

MEASURE PASSED BY CONGRESS IS SIGNED

Washington, Aug. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt renewed his appeal for a reorganization of the supreme court today, but in soft, conciliatory language at vivid contrast with his fiery calls for action six months ago.

Beaten on that issue, he signed the emaciated measure to which a rebellious congress reduced his original plan for naming six new justices to the high tribunal.

Bill "Inadequate"

Terming the bill which congress passed worthwhile but inadequate, he said in a preapred statement:

"We have wanted to bring to an end a trying period during which it has seemed that a veritable conspiracy existed on the part of many of the most gifted members of the legal profession to take advantage of the technicalities of the law and the conservatism of the courts to render measures of social and economic reform sterile or abortive.

"Because representative government, in order to succeed, must act through the processes of law, it is necessary for it to attain a high degree of cooperation among its three coordinate branches."

Burden Not Relieved

His suggestions for future action were confined to one sentence asserting that the compromise bill—dealing only with procedural reforms in the lower courts "contains meritorius provisions and registers a moderate and limited advance into a field which calls for further and more complete exploration."

And he listed what he considered the measure's inadequacies in terms reminiscent of some of the arguments presented for the enactment of the original bill.

"It leaves entirely untouched any method of relieving the burden now imposed on the supreme court," he said.

"It provides for no flow of new blood to any of the federal benches.

"It does not touch the problem of aged and infirm judges, who fail to take advantage of the opportunity accorded them to retire or resign on full pay.

"All of these are objectives which are of necessity a part of any complete and rounded plan for the reform of judicial processes."

Avoids Party Conflict

The terms and tone of the president's statement came as a surprise to many in Washington. some observers had expected the chief executive to be much more aggressive.

In explanation, it was suggested that Mr. Roosevelt, while anxious to make it clear that he has by no means abandoned the battle for reorganization of the high court, does not desire, for the present at least, to intensify the conflict within the Democratic party.

Discussing what he considered the accomplishments of the compromise bill, Mr. Roosevelt noted first of all that it permits the at-

Wells Man Caught by Law, Camera

Insurgent Spanish Army Marches Into Santander

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 25 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco's insurgent Spanish forces moved without resistance tonight into fallen Santander, the once-proud port of old Castille.

Jubilant reports from the insurgent high command told of the city's official surrender before overpowering insurgent legions, the advance of a motorized brigade to plant the red and gold insurgent banner on public buildings, and the flight of cowed government officials.

Fall of the "city of perpetual spring" gives Franco almost complete control of the entire northwestern half of Spain. It will release the legions which have been besieging Biscayan ports for a concerted drive against Madrid.

Revolt of insurgent sympathizers within the city and a smashing drive by six insurgent columns which converged only yesterday for a final assault brought Santander's downfall, insurgents reported. Food was scarce, insurgent ships blockaded entry of supplies by sea, and insurgent troops throttled highways over which reinforcements might have come.

Capture of Santander was the climax of Franco's year-old drive to subdue the Biscayan coast. Irun and Sebastian fell last summer, a short time after the civil war was started. Insurgents swept into Bilbao two months ago. Now they have only a small slice of territory to conquer before they can complete domination of the coast.

While his northern army spruced up for triumphal formal entry into Santander tomorrow, Franco bluntly warned that his ships would continue to fire on ships carrying supplies to government forces. Neutral nations, he said, should not permit their flags to fly over "this band of undesirable" vessels.

MONROE FARM SLAYER SOUGHT

Autopsy Reveals Woman Strangled; Body in Chicken Coop

Monroe, Mich., Aug. 25 (AP)—An autopsy report disclosing that Mrs. Anna Kowalski, 44-year-old Erie farm woman, had been strangled, set off a search for her slayer today.

Mrs. Kowalski's nine-year-old daughter, Wanda, found the body in a chicken coop at the home Saturday afternoon. There were marks on her throat but no other signs of violence and officers were uncertain whether she had been slain or died of natural causes. The autopsy was performed by Dr. Floyd Catron, of the University hospital at Ann Arbor, who submitted his report this afternoon to Coroner Eli Allire.

Sheriff Joseph Bairley and Corporal Bernard LaPoint, of the state police, were directing the investigation.

Fight Breaks Out In UAW Convention

Milwaukee, Aug. 25 (AP)—President Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers tonight charged "minority obstructionists" within the union with holding up the business of the convention.

Pandemonium broke out on the floor when Martin made the accusation in reply to a delegate who said the convention had "reached the saturation point in long-winded speeches, including extemporaneous remarks by the president."

Martin's statement again brought into the open the conflict between "progressive" and "unity" factions over authority vested in the offices of the president and vice presidents.

California Killer Of 3 Girls Faces Sentence Of Death

Los Angeles, Aug. 25 (AP)—The jury trying Albert Dyer, 32-year-old WPA worker, for murder of three little Inglewood girls, stood 11 to 1 tonight on a verdict. Still deadlocked after deliberating more than 24 hours, it was understood to be preponderantly for the death sentence, with one juror disagreeing.

Dyer is charged with strangling to death Madeline and Melba Everett and Jeanette Stephens and ravishing their bodies, which were found in the lonely Baldwin hills. The killings occurred June 26.

See You In Court, Said Thief, Meets Victim In Detroit

Detroit, Aug. 25 (AP)—There was a reunion today in the U. S. marshal's office that Toivo Heino, 21, a hitch-hiker, predicted five months ago.

That was in a woods near Kelso, Wash. Morris Katz, Los Angeles jewelry salesman, was tied to a tree. He had been robbed of approximately $40,000 worth of rings and unset diamonds.

Today Heino said: "You remember what I told you when I left you tied to that tree, Mr. Katz?"

"Sure", Katz laughed. "You said, 'so long, old man, I'll see you in court'."

Heino was arrested here after police found a quantity of jewelry in his hotel room. A companion had led them to a room after being questioned as to rings he was trying to pawn here. He is held in a detention cell in the marshal's office. He has pleaded guilty to violating the national stolen property act, and is awaiting sentence.

Katz came to Detroit to recover the jewelry. Informed that the property must remain in police custody until Heino is sentenced, he decided to return to Los Angeles, but wanted "to see the boy again before I go."

New York, Aug. 25. (AP)—Legless Charles Zimmy, attempting a non-stop swim from Albany to New York City, had reached Rhinebeck—almost half-way—on his 143 mile jaunt tonight.

The Swimmer, who entered the water late Monday, said he expected to reach the George Washington bridge on Saturday.

STATE BACKS UP TO RENEW SDD PERMITS

NEW HOURS FIXED FOR SELLING LIQUORS

Lansing, Aug. 25 (AP)—The state liquor control commission backtracked today in its campaign for eventual abolition of 1,500 agents designated as special distributors for the commission and ordered that all contracts with dealers be renewed Sept. 1.

The commission ruled that all distributors whose places of business are more than two miles from a state store shall be permitted to sell liquor for consumption off the premises from 7 a. m. until midnight.

Open at 7 A. M.

The commission ruled that specially designated distributors whose places of business are within a two-mile radius of a state liquor store shall be permitted to sell liquor from 7 a. m. until 9 a. m. and from 9 p. m. until midnight.

While the commission agreed to renewal of contracts, its limitation of hours under which the merchants may sell liquor was considered a continuation of its policy to force business into state-owned stores and thus obtain a larger amount of profit for the state. The SDD merchants collect a 10 per cent private gross revenue profit on $15,000,000 worth of business they do yearly.

Rush Hours Lost

At the present time the commission has four schedules set up for the distributors. In Wayne county the hours are from 7:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 6 p. m. until 2 a. m. for merchants whose places of business are within a mile of a state store. For those outside that radius the hours are 7 a. m. to 2 a. m.

Merchants operating in outstate communties which have state stores are allowed to remain open from 7 a. m. to 9:30 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 1 a. m. in communities where no state stores are located.

No member of the commission would predict the result of the commission's order, which deprives the merchants from doing business from 6 to 9 p. m., a period when most of the liquor consumed in the state is sold.

Merchants Protest

The liquor commission's fight to drive business into state-owned stores began last July after a survey showed that two bottles out of every three sold were purchased from specially designated distributors. The commission ruled at that time that it would abolish all SDD's within a mile of a state store, and in all cities of 15,000 or less which have state stores, effective Aug. 1.

Protests from merchants, who enlisted the aid of Governor Murphy, forced the commission to grant a 30-day extension. Continued pressure, by threats of a referendum and a flood of petitions brought defeat to the commission's original proposal and resulted in today's decision.

FARLEY HINTS VOTE REPRISAL

Rebel Democrats Have Lot to Explain, Says Chairman

Washington, Aug. 25. (AP)—Postmaster General Farley indicated today he expects the voters to put rebellious Democratic legislators on the political spot next year.

In his first press conference for months, the Democratic chairman insisted there will be "no reprisals" by the administration against those who fought the Roosevelt program.

But he forecast that dissenting Democrats will "have a lot of difficulty explaining their position to voters in their states."

"We have no control of the voters who want to approve or disapprove any action," he said.

Farley would not commit himself on the demand from Senator Guffey (D-Pa.), chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee. for defeat of senators who opposed the Roosevelt court bill.

Tax Advertisement Dispute Is Settled

Lansing, Aug. 25 (AP)—A committee of newspaper publishers and Attorney General Raymond W. Starr made peace today in the controversy surrounding payment for advertising the state's forced sale of tax delinquent lands next spring.

Starr said a misunderstanding had caused the dispute. He ruled informally that tabulations would not be necessary, and that the publishers actually could cut in half the volume of printing necessary. The legislature reduced the pay for such printing from 40 cents a description to 20 cents.

Starr said only one description of each delinquent property need be carried, followed by a recitation of the years of delinquency and the amount of taxes owed.

Schwartz Captured In Perronville Cornfield

Francis Schwartz, 21, of Wells, escaped convict who walked away from the Marquette prison's rehabilitation camp at Hardwood Tuesday night, was captured in a cornfield near Perronville yesterday afternoon, less than 24 hours after he made his escape.

Sheriffs of three counties, acting upon information supplied by a priest who had seen Schwartz enter a wood near Perronville, made the capture with the aid of state police and several deputies.

The Rev. Fr. Francis Krysty, pastor of St. Nicholas church at Perronville, saw the escaped convict cross a road and enter the woods a short distance north of the Perronville school. He notified the sheriffs' department, and the sheriffs of three counties were soon on the way to the scene.

Big Force Out

Those forming the posse were Sheriffs Edward Reindl, Menominee county; Paul Gingrass, Dickinson county, and William Miron, Delta county. Each was accompanied by several duputies, and two members of the Iron Mountain state police post were also on hand.

The wood which Schwartz was seen entering is in one corner of a triangle bounded by three roads and the officers took up posts along the roads to guard against an escape. When they had spread out along the sides of the wood, there was a heavily armed officer to every 300 yards of dusty gravel road.

Bloodhounds Used

Then Sheriff Reindl of Menominee county brought his three bloodhounds from the car in which they had been confined and gave them the scent of the convict at the place where Fr. Krysty had seen him cross the road only an hour or so before.

Off into the brush they went, tugging at their leashes. There was no barking or yelping, however, as they had been trained to trail quietly. They led the searchers through the brush and then out again into a cornfield, where the quarry was found.

Schwartz had left the camp early Tuesday evening, and had walked the 20 miles from Hardwood to Perronville during the night and early morning. He was seen by Fr. Krysty at about 1:30 in the afternoon, and was captured at 3 o'clock, less than 24 hours after he made his escape.

Sentenced From Here

He was sentenced from Delta county to serve 2 to 15 years in the Marquette prison for breaking and entering in October, 1936. Sheriff Miron, whose department captured him and sent him to Marquette, was on hand at the recapture yesterday.

Sheriff Gingrass of Iron Mountain took him back to the rehabilitation camp yesterday afternoon, and it is expected that he will be taken to the main prison at Marquette today.

BOY DROWNS IN BASIN CHANNEL

Everett "Sonny" Wilson Loses Life in Fall from Pilings

Everett "Sonny" Wilson, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, 411 Ludington street drowned in the channel which leads into the Escanaba yacht harbor at about 4:15 yesterday afternoon. His body was recovered within a few minutes, but efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

The boy had been playing with a younger friend along the pilings which mark the south, or landward side of the channel. He fell into the water from the pilings, which are about four feet above the surface of the water.

He was seen by Pat O'Connel, 1107 10th avenue south, who was bathing on the opposite side of the channel. O'Connel immediately swam across the 200-foot harbor entrance and recovered the body from where it lay a few feet out from the edge of the pilings in about six feet of water.

Inhalator Used

Police and firemen were called, and rushed to the scene with an inhalator. Arificial respiration was administered, meanwhile, by Bob Treiber, lifeguard at the city bathing beach, and Jack Pepin. The two kept up their efforts, supplementing the use of the inhalator, until the boy was pronounced dead at six o'clock.

Everett, who was known as "Sonny," attended St. Anne's school. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters and a brother. They are Marilyn Jean, Cele, Beverly Anne and David.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home, and will lie in state there after four o'clock this afternoon. The funeral will be held at St. Anne's church at 9 o'clock on Friday morning, the Rev. Fr. Joseph Guertin officiating. Burial will be at St. Anne's cemetery.

Arctic Night Speeds Search For Russians

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 25 (AP)—Twilight in the arctic caused airmen on both sides of the Pole to speed their widening search today for six missing Soviet fliers.

An hour of semi-darkness at Point Barrow, northermost Alaska settlement, reminded searchers the long night was enveloping the arctic and that the time for effective rescue operations was growing short.

In a huge flying boat, Sir Hubert Wilkins, British explorer, and four companions, were believed soaring far over the ice pack, having taken off from Coppermine, northwest territory of Canada, last night for their second flying search.

Wilkins had planned to take the Russian-owned plane over the Beaufort Sea area to the north of Alaska and western Canada, and to go even farther into the arctic if fog conditions permitted. He made one survey flight last week.

Three Soviet planes reached Archangel, northeastern Russia, from Moscow and planned to sweep across the polar regions abreast, 15 miles apart, in the search.

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 25 (AP)—Jimmie Mattern, Texas flier, withdrew tonight from the search for his friend Sigismund Levaneffsky and five other Soviet fliers missing in the arctic.

"We have done everything possible," said Mattern. "We were closer to the estimated position of the plane than anyone else—at times flying blind, hoping to hear Levaneffsky's radio had he been sending. We heard and saw nothing."

The states of New York and Florida and the federal government received the other 20 per cent.

MORE TROOPS SENT ASHORE BY JAPANESE

WAR AT CRITICAL STAGE; SHIPPING PARALYZED

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS

Shanghai, Aug. 26 (Thursday) (AP)—Japan struck crushing, vital blows ashore and at sea today that spread the undeclared war virtually to all China and imperilled her main defenses.

Japanese reinforcements of unknown strength swarmed ashore north and east of Shanghai, despite terrific cost exacted earlier by the Chinese, and were pressing in on the city from two directions.

Covers 800 Miles

At sea, Japan struck with a new weapon against which China is defenseless, a naval blockade of 800 miles of her coast.

Landing of the troops in a wide area of the Woosung promontory and from the lower Yangtze river put Shanghai's defenders between the blades of a pincers.

The effects of these new reinforcements, military observers said, made it certain that the war had reached a critical stage here, that Japan was pressing the situation with all her strength and that decisive developments were impending.

Foreign Ships Exempted

Even more telling pressure in the long view, they declared, would be felt from the blockade which Vice Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commander-in-chief of the Japanese third fleet established south along the Chinese coast from the mouth of the Yangtze.

The blockade, to be enforced by ships of Admiral Hasegawa's fleet, went into immediate operation against all Chinese shipping. Foreign vessels, however, were specifically exempted.

Although no state of war has been declared between China and Japan, the theater affected now has been spread down almost the entire Chinese map.

British Get Monopoly

The southern half, which had escaped at least the direct effects of the struggle until now, became a war zone because of the Japanese naval patrol extending through the straits between Formosa and the South China mainland.

The blockade paralyzed Chinese shipping, but neutral observers believed its purpose primarily was to retaliate for destruction of Japanese property by Chinese shells and warplanes.

Obliteration of Chinese coastal trade, however, was expected not to hamper China's armies at Shanghai and in the northeastern provinces. It was viewed, rather, as a windfall for British and other foreign vessels which will have a monopoly of the commerce.

Japanese shipping, it was believed, will be unable to participate because most of it already has been withdrawn for military purposes and because Chinese stevedores refuse to handle Japanese-borne cargoes.

Eye-witnesses of the landing of the Japanese forces to strengthen their foothold in central China said the invaders already had begun moving in on Shanghai from landing places at Liuho and other points on the Yangtze as well as at the Woosung forts, further inland toward the embattled city.

GOLF MEDALIST HANDED DEFEAT

Favorites Survive First Round of Tourney at Portland

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND

Portland, Ore., Aug. 25 (AP)—While the tournament medalist went tumbling down to stunning defeat today the defending title holder and other favorites charged through first victories in the national amateur golf championship.

The finest golf of the tournament thus far was chopped out of the washboard fairways of the Alderwood Country club course as the 64 qualifiers settled down to the first of the "sudden death" rounds over eighteen holes.

T. Suffern Tailer, New York socialite who plays golf with the seriousness of a pro after top money, set the stage for one of the big killings of the day with a curling 30-fot putt on the 16th green. It brought about the eventual downfall of Roger Kelly, Los Angeles youth who paced the field in the 36 hole qualifying trials.

Tailer won the contest 1 up. That long putt gave him the one-hole lead, first time he was in front since the two teed off in the opening match. Kelly, 2 up at the ninth with a one under par 36, appeared to be on his way to the second round.

But Tailer, noted for his match play prowess, plugged along to even up the count with a birdie 4 on the 15th. He picked off the lead with his birdie 2 on the next hole and, halving the last two, coasted on to victory.

Defending Champion Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, advanced with a 4 and 3 win over Robert Babbish, Detroit, after being even at the ninth.

Johnny Goodman, Omaha, pretournament favorite, shot two under par golf to oust Donald McPhail, Baltimore, by the overwhelming count of 7 and 6.

Two former title holders, Chick Evans, Chicago, and Ross Somerville of Canada, remained in the running, the former by a thrilling extra-hole battle and Somerville by a 2 and 1 margin.

Evans, nearing 50 years, won his 50th match in national amateur play. He first took the championship in 1916 and repeated in 1920.

Chuck Kocsis, Detroit, defeated Earl Christiansen, Miami, 4 and 3.

Melvin (Chick) Harbert, Battle Creek, Mich., lost to Walter Emery, Oklahoma City, 3 and 2.

Chicago, Aug. 25 (AP)—A strike of 350,000 men who operate the nation's trains was threatened today in the wake of the carrier's refusal to meet demands for a 20 per cent increase in wages.

Three weeks of conferences between a committee of 15 representing 86 major railroads and spokesmen for the five "operating" brotherhoods ended suddenly with the announcement by Chairman H. A. Enochs of the management group that the raise could not be granted because it would prove "ruinous."

MAY REVAMP BUDGET

Washington, Aug. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt may revamp his budget estimates for this fiscal year and show a brighter picture of federal finances, treasury officials said today.

These authorities said two recent developments will tend to improve the government's financial outlook. They are: Enactment of the administration tax loophole bill and the "freezing" of a portion of departmental appropriations in reserve accounts.

Mr. Roosevelt, it was said, may ask the budget bureau to re-cast spending and revenue estimates of last April to take these factors into account.

The April budget, which was itself a revision of original estimates in January, forecast a $418,000,000 deficit for this fiscal year, which started July 1. Authorities said any new revision in estimates probably would show a substantial reduction in this figure.

They said the tax loophole law, enacted after a prolonged congressional study of alleged tax avoidance by wealthy persons, is expected to bolster revenues by $100,000,000 or more annually.

On the spending side of the ledger, departments already have set aside about $400,000,000 of this year's appropriations in reserve accounts. Funds can be released from these accounts only upon authorization by the budget bureau.

Officials said today it is almost certain substantial amounts will have to be released from the $400,000,000 fund, but that some savings will be effected.

The dual influences of greater revenues and lower expenditures should bring a material cut in the projected $418,000,000 deficit, it was said.

Thus far this fiscal period, the treasury has run deeper into the red than a year ago, but officials expect a reversal of this trend.

The deficit stands now at $338,000,000—only $80,000,000 under the forecast for the entire year and $59,000,000 more than in the same period last year.

Gross expenditures have climbed $262,000,000 over last year to $1,115,000,000. Repayments to lending agencies have fallen off $237,000,000, thus increasing the agencies' net expenditures. Officials expect repayments to pick up during the remainder of the year.

Spending for "recovery and relief" has dropped $162,000,000 under last year, more than offsetting a $103,000,000 rise in expenditures for general government purposes.

At $777,000,000, revenues this year are $203,000,000 over the same period a year ago.

Strehl Hearing Postponed Until Miller Returns

Hearing of Don Strehl, which had been continued until yesterday from last week, was postponed until the return of Prosecuting Attorney William Miller to the city, it was learned yesterday at the office of Justice of Peace H. E. Ranguette.

Miller has been out of the city for several days on business and no definite date has been set for his return although he is expected to be back in a few days.

Strehl is being held on a charge of negligent homicide growing out of an automobile crash several months ago near Rapid River which resulted in the death of Witte Griffin, Canadian sailor, riding with Strehl. The latter's car crashed into the rear of a forest service gravel truck.

Putouts By Tigers Limited To Infield, Tieing League Feat

Detroit, Aug. 25. (AP)—Elden Auker equalled a major league record today when he restricted the Detroit Tigers' putouts to the infield. No Bengal in the outer gardens had a chance to make a putout during the game.

This had not been done since 1911, when the Chicago White Sox accomplished the feat. The St. Louis Browns did it in 1908 and the New York National leaguers in 1899. All three of these were 10-inning games.

COACH GIVES OUT UNIFORMS

Wojcihovski Takes Over Reins at Kingsford High School

Iron Mountain, Aug. 24—Victor Wojcihovski, new Kingsford high school football coast, handed out uniforms to 40 players this morning and expected to outfit a score more this afternoon before the first regular practice of the season, scheduled for 2 o'clock.

Wojcihovski arrived last night from Weston, W. Va., his home, and assumed his duties early today. He has mapped out a program of daily drills designed to keep the large squad of candidates busy until their opening game next month. The first few workouts will be light because of the heat and because a new system is being installed, but after that drills will be both speedier and longer.

At Weston high school Wojcihovski competed in football, baseball and basketball but at Notre Dame restricted his efforts to football. He played right halfback for the Irish for three years and twice won mention on Grantland Rice's All-America selections. He is an outfielder and first baseman in baseball.

Although numerous, Kingsford grid candidates do not include many lettermen. Captain Steve Doucette, tackle; Hall, tackle; Klatt, guard, Chapman, center, and Troyer, end, are veterans and make construction of the 1937 line fairly simple. But the 1936 backfield was swept away by graduation and must be completely rebuilt.

Lansing, (AP)—State liquor control commission suspended beer license of Blatz Brewery company, Milwaukee, today, charging it had subsidized a tavern. The order, effective immediately, will continue in effect for 20 days. It forbids the company to ship beer into Michigan, sell or distribute from its Michigan warehouses. Joseph Peltier, tavern proprietor at Escanaba, Mich., testified salesman for the Blatz company obtained bar fixtures for him under "an agreement with the company."

lieved, were being carried out on the coast, east of Shanghai and south of the Yangtze estuary, bringing a column up from the rear to strike behind Pootung, rich industrial section across the Whangpoo river from the heart of Shanghai.

The numbers of newly landed forces were not known, but were believed to be considerable. Thousands of other Japanese were known to be lying off the coast aboard transports awaiting an opportunity to land.

The Japanese staged a night air raid on Nanking for the second successive night, creating terror in the capital when sirens screamed a warning. Chinese planes met the invaders in the vicinity of Chinkiang, a suburb, and drove them off.

United States Consul General Clarence E. Gauss and the emergency committee of Americans worked to safeguard American lives against the growing menace. Measures were taken to protect them should the international areas become engulfed in the strife and to evacuate all Americans if "the worst" happens.

Many Americans Left

There are about 2,500 Americans, including approximately 700 women and children, left in Shanghai. More than 1,000 others have been evacuated.

Hundreds of Japanese sacrificed their lives in the mass effort to land troops in the Shanghai area and for many hours yesterday the Chinese kept them from gaining a foothold.

Thousands of troops kept pouring over the sides of Japanese transports, particularly near the Woosung forts north of the city where the Yangtze and Whangpoo meet.

Some succeeded in establishing positions ashore. Others plunged headlong into snares the Chinese had set for them and suffered fearful losses.

One Japanese force was almost annihilated in a Chinese trap when, after advancing over what seemed to be abandoned second defense lines, they found themselves caught between suddenly exploded hidden mines and a wall of machine gun fire from secret nests.

The Chinese, however, admitted that defense of the waterway also had cost them heavily and they were reported to have retreated from many river positions.

The total of Japanese reinforcements massed along the coast was said to be 55,000. Of this number, 13,000 were known to have been sent ashore. How many turned back under the Chinese fire or died was not known. Neither was it known how many more landed after the Chinese defenses cracked.

The operation shifted the brunt of the war from Shanghai to the coastal area north and east of it. Apparently in retaliation for the setbacks to its army, the Japanese fleet roved the Yangtze, demolishing Chinese villages.

Road Builders' Rights Cleared By Judge Sample

The right of Michigan contractors to submit sealed bids on county road and bridge building, rebuilding and repairing projects is recognized in a consent decree signed yesterday by Judge George W. Sample of Washtenaw county circuit court at Ann Arbor, according to a wire from the Road Builder's association yesterday.

The decree was result of agreement between Albert Rapp, prosecuting attorney, representing Washtenaw county road commission, and attorneys for Daniel B. Sutton who had requested injunction compelling road commission to advertise for sealed bids on road projects.

For several years it has been the practice of many county road commissions in Michigan to carry out their construction and repair work, including graveling and black topping of roads with their own men and equipment without asking for contractors bids. It has been the contention of Michigan Road Builders association that this is illegal in that commissions are required by law to obtain bids even though law specifically states that commissions may reject bids if too high and do the work with their own forces if bids are rejected. They must be filed with the county clerk with reasons for rejection.

The decree states in part: "Board of county road commissioners for county of Washtenaw from and after date of entering of this decree shall in all cases involving the expenditure of an amount greater than five hundred dollars for building, rebuilding or repairing of roads or bridges advertise for sealed proposals for such work in accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of said board."

Floyd E. Koontz, secretary of Michigan Road Builders association which is composed of road and bridge contractors, declared the decree may make it possible for many of the contractors who have been forced into idleness as a result of reduced federal and state highway programs to bid on county road work.

"These contractors have hundreds of thousands of dollars invested in machinery and other equipment on which they pay heavy taxes," Mr. Koontz said. "It is only fair that law recognized their right to submit bids on county projects."

At one time, prime bacon was used to fire the boilers of Mississippi river steamers. Prices became so low after the panic of 1837 that farm products found no market and bacon was actually cheaper than cordwood.

Great Lakes Fishing

CONGRESSMAN LUECKE'S resolution providing for an investigation of the Great Lakes fishing industry was among the many pieces of legislation which died with the adjournment of the seventy-fifth congress.

When the resolution was introduced, there was much favorable comment in the newspapers concerning the possibilities of such a move. It was pointed out that the whitefish supply in the Great Lakes has been rapidly diminishing in recent years, and the extinction of this species is feared. The Escanaba congressman also had pointed to the need of uniform federal regulation of the commercial fishing in the Great Lakes to eliminate many of the disputes that arise over the present set-up of conflicting state laws.

Commercial fishing is an industry which furnishes employment to a considerable number of persons in this region. It is an industry that should be perpetuated, and it is unfortunate that the resolution which would have paved the way for an authoritative study of existing conditions failed of adoption at the present session of Congress.

Names His Wife to Senate

VERY few persons in the United States—very few in Alabama even—thought Gov. Bibb Graves would have the colossal effrontery to name his wife to the post in the Senate left vacant by Senator Hugo Black's ascendancy to the Supreme Court.

But he did, and the upper house can look forward to the pleasant, drawling opinions of "Senator Dixie" when Congress meets again in special or regular session, for Mrs. Graves was an early suffragette leader and knows her own mind.

From Governor Graves' point of view there were a number of good and valid reasons for the appointment of his wife. Best of those is the fact that he couldn't resign from the governorship and take the place himself, as that is forbidden under Alabama law.

Governor Graves is a politician and, from all appearances, a most practical politician. High state politics are too incontrovertably bound up with national politics these days to allow golden opportunities to slip away.

There are a number of gentlemen in Alabama who would have given little less than their eye teeth for the appointment which went to the governor's wife. Those gentlemen will all be at the polls next election seekin gthe Senate seat and the pre-election appointment would have been a vast advantage to any of them.

By naming his own wife the governor deftly avoided pleasing one of the potential candidates and making enemies of the others.

More than that, he assured himself of a senator from Alabama whose stand on national questions and whose ayes and nays he was pretty sure of, and amiable southern senators are none too plentiful these days.

Senator Dixie has already announced she is a New Dealer and will support the President's policies. That will hardly annoy Mr. Roosevelt and it certainly won't hurt the standing of Governor Graves with the White House.

WPA Flying Service

GETTING the work done at an hourly cost of about 60 cents, the WPA has completed $63,710,642 worth of improvements on 940 airport projects, which seems a government item worth singling out.

The work included improved runways, terminal buildings and hangars, roads, walks, boundary marks, and field drainage. Small town ports and emergency landing fields were developed as well as metropolitan air terminals.

Pennsylvania, scene of so many winter crashes and aftalities, came in for almost 11 million dollars worth of the work—far more than any other state except California.

The ground equipment of the airways has not kept up with its flying equipment, and if these improvements do even a small part to help make flying safer it will be work well done.

Just one emergency field might be supremely valuable in human lives if it came into sight at the right minute.

A Better Newspaper

PURSUING its long-established policy of constantly endeavoring to improve its newspaper, the Escanaba Daily Press has added a new feature, "America Out-of-Doors".

Outstanding authorities, such as Cal Johnson, Ozark Ripley, O. Warren Smith, Robert Page Lincoln and Ben C. Robinson, will write articles on hunting, fishing, trapping, winter sports and other phases of outdoor life for the Press. These articles will appear at intervals on the sports page and also on the Sunday conservation page.

The Upper Peninsula is a great hunting and fishing region, and it is quite appropriate that a newspaper serving a considerable portion of this territory should reflect its activities. We hope that the readers will enjoy the outdoors articles written by outstanding authorities and that the new reader service will play no small part in promoting public interest in the Upper Peninsula's recreational advantages.

Operating on Crime

A VETERAN of Oklahoma reformatories and prisons has asked the state to perform a brain operation on him to remove criminal tendencies.

The incident makes an interesting little news item and opens the way for a happy train of thought. Wouldn't it be nice if all criminals could be treated on the operating table instead of in the courtroom. With science sufficiently advanced, a thief could have his tendency to steal corrected by the surgeon's knife, and the murderer his killing instincts removed with the scalpel.

There's practically no limit to the thing. Wives with erring husbands would be hustling them off to the doctor's office for a shot of truth serum or a stay-at-home-nights pill. Corrective clinics should enjoy a tremendous business.

It's a good trick if you can work it.

Other Editors' Comments

GOOD CITIZENSHIP
(American Lumberman)

THE BUSINESS MAN of today is asking himself, "How soon will there be a change to more stable conditions in this country? When will our people get through with this feverish excitement that seems to have gripped, especially, the manufacturing sections? How long will the workers, or a large number of them, hold to the idea that labor is entitled to take over the management of the industries and to say what the wages shall be, without reference to the sales possibilities or the profits; in fact, that labor shall dominate the management? How long can this condition of affairs continue without bringing about another collapse?"

And as the thoughtful business man studies the situation he begins to ask what can be done about it. The more he ponders the more he becomes convinced that he himself must do something. It can't be left for "George." If we are to have stable government, with orderly process of law, then the real citizens, those who have the welfare of the country at heart and who have invested their lives and their money in homes and other property, must take an active interest in the conduct of the Government. This must begin at home, right in the door-yard of each individual. The merchant and the manufacturer, as well as the farmer and the workman, must say to themselves: "Beginning today I will devote part of my time to the public weal. I will do my share of the things that have to be done in my community. I will discuss with my neighbors the problems that are involved in its betterment. I will serve in any capacity, no matter how humble; and in particular, I will take an interest in the primaries. I will endeavor to get good men to accept even the minor offices. If necessary I will offer for service in such offices myself, if by so doing I may benefit my community."

Freedom is achieved only through individual effort, and maintained only by vigilance. Adoption of fantastic notions that have come from the other side of the ocean as a panacea for our troubles is like taking some new kind of medicine without knowing what its effect is going to be. Practice of communistic and socialistic policies has not demonstrated that they are better than the American plan of representative government. We are pleased to call our country a democratic government, but it really was designed to be a republican government—one of checks and balances. The real problem is, how are we going to bring back those elements that are conducive to peace, to happiness, to contentment; to assurance that our children will be allowed to possess what we have saved for them; that there is going to be protection for life and property?

John Quincy Adams was a distinguished statesman, who became President of the United States, but when he retired he went back to Massachusetts and became the Commissioner of Roads. He was elected by his own people in his own community. He continued to give himself to the betterment of his community and his country. And so must we, at every opportunity, contribute something of ourselves.

The country needs the services of its best men today as it has never needed them before. It needs calm, intelligent thinking; and a careful adjustment between the employer and the employee. There should be mutual understanding between them. Each is necessary to the other. There is as much responsibility on the part of the employer as there is on the part of the employee. We need labor, and it should be profitably employed, but we also need capital. Capital is simply stored-up or "canned" labor; labor that has gone before, and has been turned into capital. It may be in money, or it may be in manufacturing plants, or in acres of land or timber, but it represents somebody's work, and it should be employed for the purpose of giving somebody else work.

We believe that the thinking people who make up the great majority of Americans are desirous of living in peace. They want no quarrel with either their neighbors or with any foreign country. They want to enjoy the blessings of a good home, and that means comfortable living, with some leisure and opportunities for the higher pleasures of life. This can be attained only by recognizing the rights of others. The man who want to work should be allowed to do so if the opportunity is offered. The man who wants to organize his fellows into a group for better conditions should be allowed to do so; but he must not claim the privilege of enforcing his ideas upon those who do not wish to be governed by them. If we would bring about a more thorough understanding of the benefits to be derived from law and order as against mob rule we ourselves must help to demonstrate it by living upright and honest lives, granting to our neighbor the same privileges that we wish to enjoy ourselves.

The men engaged in the building industry have a tremendous responsibility. The cornerstone of security is the building of homes to be occupied by American citizens, and owned, in a large measure, by these citizens. So it behooves men in the industry, whatever they are, to foster the home building idea, and to stress upon all occasions the benefits to be derived by the establishment of homes in this country of ours.

A CRISIS LIQUIDATED
(Cincinnati Enquirer)

FINAL enactment of the revised judiciary bill by both houses of congress brings to an end the greatest constitutional crisis which this country has gone through in many decades. Signature of the bill by the President, perhaps with a slight grimace, will mark the complete liquidation of a controversy which can properly be likened to the great constitutional debates of the decades before the Civil War.

In its final form, the bill simply reforms the procedure of the lower federal courts to make possible swifter adjudication of cases involving the constitutionality of federal statutes. It also insures that the government will be adequately represented in all cases of that character, in whatever court they originate. These changes are manifestly desirable.

The American people can congratulate themselves upon the outcome of this great controversy, for it is they who achieved the victory. The traditions of freedom which they cherish were endangered by a proposal which would have made the supreme court a creature of the President's will. The basic principle of separated powers on which our governmental system is founded would have been displaced by executive hegemony—with real perils for liberty.

BALLYHOO NOT NEEDED
(Ironwood Globe)

THE football game between the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Professional league, and the stars of various colleges who have completed their careers on the gridiron so far as the colleges are concerned, should be one of the greatest spectacles of the season. It may be suggested it will be a great spectacle without all the ballyhoo of sport writers that coaches for the All Stars and the coach of the Packers are wrangling over this rule and that and the eligibility of one player or another.

The experiences of other years tell the world it will be a great game and insure the attendance of a large crowd. There is a scarcely a football fan who wouldn't like to attend. That speaks volumes for the popularity of this annual affair.

Tungchow is a name now whispered in the Orient by both civilians and soldiers. According to news dispatches the city has recently been the scene of a massacre, a revolt, and reprisals in which non-combatants perished along with the military. An American mission furnished only partial sanctuary to more than three hundred refugees from the terrifying episodes.

Tungchow was the last outpost in Peiping's outer line of defense, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographical Society. The small city lies 24 miles east of China's ancient northern capital, on the route to Tientsin, important as Peiping's outlet to the sea.

—BOXER UPRISING—

This is the second time in this century that old Tungchow has felt the effects of major military activity. In 1900, as foreign troops marched from Tientsin to the relief of their besieged nationals in Peiping during the Boxer uprising, Tungchow was bombarded so effectively that its half-demolished wall was never restored.

Originally the city was a neat unit within its bulwark of stone, its two principal streets crossing at the city's center, and a drum tower standing guard at the intersection to sound warning of approaching danger. Chief pride of the ancient town was a thirteen-story pagoda, faithfully renewed so that it lasted from the 10th century as reminder of the magnificence of a vanished Chou dynasty.

Just outside Tungchow stands one of the long stone bridges by which early Chinese engineers won fame for durable bridge-building long before steel came to solve their problem.

—CANAL STILL A VITAL LINK—

Tungchow's one claim to more than local importance was its strategic location on the route from Peiping to Tientsin. A broad stone-paved road crossed the flat farming country, linking Peiping to its satellite Tungchow, and bringing the latter much 'tourist' trade as a stop on the seaward journey. A railroad, however, completed in the last years of the 19th century, helped traffic and commerce speed by without pause, and Tungchow's importance began to wane. By rail the provincial city is barely an hour from the capital.

On the water route of communication, on the other hand, Tungchow has maintained a little of its earlier importance. The Pei River, which supplements the Grand Canal north from Tientsin, makes Tungchow a junction on the waterway to Peiping. Here a 14th century canal is still the only link between Peiping and the water route to the richly productive rice lands of southern China. The Tungchow-Peiping Canal traffic is impeded by a number of locks, at each of which it is the practice to change boats. But in spite of the inconvenience and languorous tempo, it is a vital means of cheap transportation.

Even in winter, when the canal is frozen over ,the traffic continues, but on boat-sleighs.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Clifford Odets, the radical playwright hailed as the White Hope of the American Stage, and his wife, Louise Rainer, joined in a sentimental tryst at a movie house in Greenwich Village. That happened when Miss Rainer quietly came east to be with the dramatist at his Manhattan residence. The movie house was the rendezvous because that's where their romance began.

While Odets lived in the Village several years ago, he took relaxation in the balcony of the movie house. He chanced in there one night during a showing of "Escapade," one of Miss Rainer's earlier films. Soon thereafter, Odets went to Hollywood. One of the first people he met was Miss Rainer. Their marriage quickly followed.

Coughing Up

This is as good a time as any to mention it, if it will make anyone feel any cooler. A couple of gentlemen have been around to producers asking permission to distribute cough drops to playgoers during the winter season. And perhaps, eliminate Public Enemy No. 1 from Broadway playhouses—the chronic coughers.

Or as Dr. Woollcott once described them, the ladies and gentlemen who strum their catarrhs. The cough drop samples come under the heading of promotion and the boys got the idea from the success with which it has been practiced at the Philadelphia Opera House these many years. It was Leopold Stokowski, incidentally, who introduced cough drops to the opera in Philadelphia and it has proved to be a boon that may have greater bearing upon his immortality than musical genius.

Tintypes

At least one of the following types, vouchsafes Don Voorhees, is found in any night club—the fellow who dances with his eyes closed; the girl in the 'sexy' red dress; the fellow who just sits and stares; the amateur bandleader who gets the baton urge at the first whiff of a whisky bottle; the girl who does bumps on the dance floor; the intolerably sober customer; the boisterous gentleman virtually begging for a 'Mickey Finn'; the fellow who leaves his hat and coat in the car to save the check room tariff; the lad who buys two decks of cigarettes outside to save the nickel tip on the inside; the girl with the crying jag; the anemic looking drunk who insists upon being a Joe Louis at the bar.

And there was the notorious phoney who went up to Helen Menken's table the other night (the press agent says it was Helen Menken's table) and remarked: "I saw Sam Harris at lunch today. He was looking very well." "Yes," Miss Menken is reported to have said, "which way?"

News Behind The News

BY H. R. BAUKHAGE

Copyright, 1937, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.

Washington, Aug. 25—Another "break" between the president and John Lewis is about due. Only it won't be another, if it comes. It will be the same synthetic fracture which is regularly made public when the respective following of either gentleman gets sufficiently outraged at the other.

The point is that the New Deal and the C. I. O. are being forced into close cooperation again, and, when and if the public gets in on the deal, it may be necessary for an unofficial disclaimer.

This latest bit of "cooperation," which is being arranged with great care and no publicity, grows out of a dire need on Mr. Lewis' part—and on Mr. Green's part, too, for that matter. Both labor leaders realize that they have to have farm votes if they want to get their labor legislation, and they know that their only liaison with agriculture is the White House.

Mr. Lewis made a herculean effort to get the wages and hours bill through on the eve of the adjournment of congress, when it was stuck in the rules committee. It is loudly whispered that, if the White House had seen fit to turn on the heat, it could have obtained the petition necessary to get the bill out of the committee. Once on the floor, the votes to pass it would have been found by the administration among the farm state members and others whom Mr. Lewis couldn't reach.

This experience, added to the general coolness of agriculture toward labor, undoubtedly prompted Mr. Lewis' new cooperative movement.

On its side, the White House, while it doesn't like to be reminded of the matter too loudly, knows the value of labor's aid in vote-getting.

—LEWIS GOES WOOING—

Meanwhile, the C .I. O. isn't neglecting an independent invasion of the rural districts. Its little brother, labor's Non-Partisan League, has sneaked out and bought a broad-brimmed straw hat and is practicing chewing straws.

Very quietly it is laying out a campaign to woo the farmer. The first step will be the public pronouncement which Mr. Lewis has made on the subject of the latest addition to the C. I. O. family, the new Agricultural Workers' Union.

Mr. Lewis will address his new ward in a pamphlet. He will call attention to the appalling living conditions of the farm workers. He will mention that the new union is the first attempt to help them. He will mention the farmer's stake in the standard of living of all workers. He will end up by declaring that both farm and factory workers have the same goal, a decent living.

Incidentally, he will remind the more prosperous farmer that this high standard of living for all workers is the only solution for decent farm prices.

That's the first step.

The next will be a stirring get-together of farm organizations and labor's Non-Partisan League. The league will come right out and talk votes. It's got 'em and it's ready to trade, it says. The object of this new alliance will be a farm-labor legislative program with the usual quid pro quos.

—WOULD COVER SOUTH—

A strong effort will be made to change the flavor of the south from that rich bourbon taste to something near chitt'lin' level. With his new agricultural union, Mr. Lewis hopes to cover Dixie like the dew. So far it's a pretty nebulous organization. However, you can't tell what some good whipper-uppers might do to mobilize a "majority" vote against the "Colonel" Macaulays.

—TRUST-BUSTING EXPENSIVE—

The department of justice is hankering to do a little trust-busting, but it takes millions to fight millions, and the attorney-general's exechequer is running low.

The department of justice figures that it costs Uncle Sam about $100,000 per case per year and these trust-busting cases often drag out longer than that. Ten cases per year run through $1,000,000.

And at that, when the government goes to court with six or seven of its $5,000-a-year lawyers, it frequently has to sit across the table from the corporation's $100,000-a-year man and his corps of six or seven assistants.

Important test cases against middle western oil companies are coming up this fall in Madison, Wisconsin. Already hotel rooms are so scarce that government trial lawyers who get only $5 a day expenses find they must pay $6 a day for their rooms alone.

A Frenchman invented the tin can in 1809, it is claimed, but some of those auto jokes go farther back than that.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

MORTGAGED YEARS

The hours we borrow from the night
To lengthen out the day
Are never, though they bring delight,
Worth half the price we pay.
Our bodies long will bear the debt,
Our calling or our trade,
And we shall pay and pay, and yet
Shall never get it paid.

The strength we borrow from our prime
To squander in our youth
We shall repay some other time,
Yet never pay in truth.
Someday that strength our arm will need,
That strength our heart and brain,
And then we pay, and pay indeed,
Yet never do regain.

The years we borrow in our haste,
Indeed the very hours,
Are like the orchard fruits we waste
Because we pluck the flow'rs.
Yes, he who mortgages his years
Will pay until he goes,
Until the sheriff, Death, appears,
The mortgage to foreclose.

LUECKE BACK FROM CAPITAL

Straits Bridge Will Be Built Eventually, Solon Predicts

Advocates of the Straits of Mackinac bridge are urged by Rep. John Luecke of the Eleventh Michigan district yesterday to continue their agitation for the span connecting the two peninsulas. Congressman Luecke returned to Escanaba yesterday, congress having adjourned Saturday night.

In an interview with a Press reporter, he declared that he is confident that a bridge eventually will be built across the Straits of Mackinac. He pointed to the fact that even with the addition of another ferry boat traffic is congested and many north-bound tourists become so disgusted with the transportation service that they turn around and go back to their homes or Lower Michigan resorts. Congressman Luecke predicts that eventually it will become uneconomical for the state highway department to place as many boats in the service as will be needed to take care of the straits traffic.

The congressman expressed the opinion that an effort should be made to have the state provide funds for a comprehensive survey of the Straits of Mackinac bridge project. He feels that after such a study were made that it would be easier to "sell the public" on the bridge proposal.

A measure authorizing the construction of a bridge over the Straits of Mackinac, but not providing for the appropriation of the necessary funds, was on the house calendar when congress adjourned.

Contrary to press reports, it will not be necessary to reintroduce the other resolution, providing for a study of Great Lakes fishing conditions, Congressman Luecke explained. He said that it developed at the hearing on this resolution that the Bureau of Fisheries has been making extensive studies of commercial fishing in this region, and that the testimony presented convinced him all the more that there should be state compacts for the uniform control of fishing in these waters.

Congressman Luecke said that his resolution is in the hands of the committee on merchant marines and fisheries and that likely it will be given further consideration at the next session. He announced his intentions of introducing a bill, which would permit states to enter into agreements for commercial fishing regulation. Congressman Luecke also emphasized the need for a similar pact with Canada.

BUYS COTTAGE SITE

Stambaugh — Purchase of a summer cottage site on the east side of Indian lake by Stanley Ryden, advertising man of Chicago, was made known this week. Mr. Ryden, who recently visited here with his wife, plans to build a summer home next year.

Mr. Ryden was impressed with the natural beauty of the lake and said others of his Chicago friends were interested in acquiring summer property nearby.

His only criticism was the dusty condition of the county road between Alpha and Chicagoan lake which made motor travel a hazard.

BIRLERS LOOK TO 1938 MEET

All Planning to Return to Escanaba; Much Interest Now

Great revival of public interest in the old-time lumberjacks' birling sport is reported by contestants, who came to Escanaba to compete in the world's championship log rolling tournament held at the state fair.

Frank Marchand of Cloquet, Minn., writes that he has received contracts for three log rolling exhibitions since the tournament was held, including one engagement in Chicago. He said that the St. Paul Pioneer Press also sent a special photographer to take pictures of Laura Marchand, world's championship girl birler, and the other Cloquet log rollers.

Joe Connor, who won the world's championship in the men's division, writes from Mountain, Wis., where he is stationed at a CCC camp with the Forest Service that he was called out to fight a forest fire immediately after his arrival from the Escanaba tournament. Connor said that he would surely return to Escanaba to defend his title in 1938.

The three Stillwater, Minn., birlers—Leo Klein, Harold Fischer and Sydney Sherrard—expressed their appreciation of the hospitality shown them while in Escanaba in an interview published in the Stillwater Daily Gazette. Mention was made of the stag party held at the Delta Brewery taproom under the auspices of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Word has been received from Marietta Phipps and Arbutus Wilson, girl birlers of Ladysmith, Wis., that they will return to the 1938 tournament in Escanaba.

Similar promises have been made by others.

Wilbur Marx, Eau Claire, Wis., who lost his 10-year grasp on the world's title to Joe Connor, also has announced his intentions of returning to Escanaba next year with a view of regaining the crown.

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

WHY PAVE STREETS WITH CONCRETE?

1. Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
2. At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
3. Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
4. You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
5. You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications.

CONCRETE IS THE REAL LOW-COST PAVEMENT

Harris-Champagne

In a beautiful setting of cut flowers, Miss Rosetta Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Harris, of Niagara, became the bride of Roland Champagne, son of Mrs. M. Champagne, at a single ring ceremony at St. Anthony's Catholic church, Norway, at 8 o'clock Monday morning. The Rev. Fr. Leo Trojanowski, pastor, officiated.

The bride was attired in a white satin formal, fashioned with a Queen Anne collar. Her veil was of silk net and lace fastened to a satin crown. For her bouquet she carried calla lilies tied with white tulle.

Miss Beatrice Harris, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Jack Rafferty, the former Lucile Champagne, and sister of the groom, of Chicago, was the bridesmaid.

Miss Harris selected a light blue net formal over taffeta fashioned in the popular redingote style. With it she wore a blue picture hat with pink ribbons, and white accessories. Pink lace in a jacket effect over rose taffeta was chosen by Mrs. Rafferty. With this she wore a pink picture hat with blue ribbons. She also wore white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink sweet peas and roses. The best man was Lloyd Champagne, brother of the groom, and Jack Rafferty was usher. The groom and his male attendants were attired in white flannels with navy coats.

Little Patsy Flynn, of Harris, Mich., a friend of the bride, was ring bearer. She was a darilng miniature bride, being dressed in a floor length white taffeta, with a long veil, which was fastened to a wreath of pink sweet peas. She carried the ring on a beautiful white lace pillow trimmed in tiny pink and blue ribbons, which were also used to trim her dress.

The breakfast was served at the Harris home to the bridal party. A dinner was served at the Kimlark Inn where covers were laid for thirty-two guests. The room was attractively decorated in cut flowers. A bridal cake of white and pink with a statuette of a bride and groom adorning it was the centerpiece of the dinner table.

Her going-away outfit was a navy blue dress with a white jacket and white accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Champagne will spend their honeymoon in southern Wisconsin.

Mrs. Champagne has a clerical position at the Sweeney Lumber office here and is a graduate of the Niagara high school. Mr. Champagne, also a graduate, is employod by the Kimberly-Clark corporation.

The bride was honored at several pre-nuptial showers.

Some of the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bezier, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Flynn, Jr., and daughters, Patsy and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. A. Houle, Mrs. Dave Flynn, Sr., and daughter, Marion, of Harris, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. John Pasquantonio, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bezier, of Pembine; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zeh, of Neenah, Wis.; and Mr. and Mrs. E. WINTER SPORTS MEET PLANNED

General Reorganization Parley To Be Held September 8

The annual reorganization of the Escanaba Winter Sports association will be effected at a meeting to be held on Wednesday night, Sept. 8, i twas decided upon at a meeting of the executive committee at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office yesterday afternoon.

Tentative plans were discussed briefly at yesterday's meeting. It has been suggested that the 1938 winter carnival be held about January 15 so as to give the winter activities program a good early start. Some discussion was also given to a suggestion that an amateur open speed skating meet be held here during the carnival and an effort be made to draw into competition such stars as Del Lamb of Milwaukee and Bob Peterson of Duluth.

A city crew is already engaged with the power shovel in doing preliminary work at the skating rink site at Ludington park. It is planned to enlarge the rink slightly this year.

Next season, the Escanaba Winter Sports association will be given valuable assistance in the promotion of various special events from the new department of parks and recreation, headed by Supervisor Bevier Butts.

Attending yesterday's meetings were: A. J. Goulais, president of the winter sports organization; Harold P. Lindsay, George W. Brown, C. R. Henderson, Wm. J. Duchaine, Rudolph Olsen, Wm. J. Schmit, E. E. Edick, and Mr. Butts.

First Box of New KruGon Gave Her Amazing Results

Housework a Pleasure She Feels So Well Again; Now Enjoys Eating Without Distress Afterwards; Bloating, Heartburn Easily Conquered

"It is a pleasure to tell others about a medicine like the new KruGon," said Mrs. Ed Anderson, 104-B Broadway Apts., Superior, Wis., "I had been in a miserable condition for after every meal I was sure to bloat from excess gas, foods would sour and would have such severe attacks of heart-burn I could hardly stand it. I was badly constipated too, often forced to take the strongest laxatives but with no lasting results. In my condition it was impossible for me to get a good nights rest, was tired and worn-out all of the time and my housework was such a drudgery, feeling as I did I had to give it up. But all of this was soon changed once I gave KruGon the opportunity of helping me."

MRS. ED ANDERSON

"My entire system underwent a complete change with a few days trial of this new laxative-tonic formula," she continued, "By the time I had finished my first box of KruGon my stomach was so much improved I was eating and enjoying my meals without that awful distress afterwards. Those attacks of heartburn, gas and bloating have been relieved, bowels regulated and I am feeling more like my former self again. I now sleep well, my strength and energy is rapidly returning and I am doing my own housework again. It is wonderful that suffering people can get a medicine with the merit of KruGon."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Michigan Farms Are Under Heavy Gov't Mortgages

BY PAUL MAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25—Michigan's farmers owe $179,739,000 in mortgages on their lands and homes, nearly half of which is held by the Federal government in land bank and commissioners loans, according to a statement of the Farm Credit Administration made at hearings on the Third Deficiency Appropriations Bill.

The FCA statement shows that the Government's share of this indebtedness, divided between land banks and commissioners, amounts to $78,721,000, according to figures on the books at close of business June 30, last, with 42,651 loans outstanding.

Of the Federally covered portion of Michigan's farm debt, the Land Banks hold the lions share amounting to $51,262,000 and the commissioners are underwriting $27,459,000 worth of farm mortgages.

Delinquencies in the land bank loan class amounted to 10.2 per cent in June, representing $5,259,446 in default. Of the commissioner loans, 13.2 were unpaid, an arrearage of $4,082,356, the Farm Credit figures show.

Michigan farmers indebtedness to the Government at the end of June a year ago was divided similarly between land banks and commissioners, with the land banks holding $51,583,660, of which 16.4 per cent were delinquent, and commissioners underwriting $27,622,153, worth of loans, of which 14.5 percent were in arrears.

Average, interest rate paid by Michigan farmers on Federal loans is 6.4 per cent, as compared with the national average of 6.2 percent, the FCA report shows (monthly.)

Behind The Scenes

By Rodney Dutcher

Washington—The almost complete defeat of the Roosevelt program in the recent session of Congress still puzzles most of those who predicted confidently after the last election that the President would have an entirely free hand.

Nearly every home-going member had from one to a dozen explanations. The most common one was that the President had made a larger grab for power than the country would tolerate and that he chose the method of court reform which was certain to arouse the most bitterness and antagonism in and out of Congress. Defeat on this proposal led to defeat on nearly every other important measure Roosevelt planned.

On the other hand, there is a whispered opinion general among men who helped Roosevelt in the court fight which disregards such considerations and attributes the court defeat and subsequent debacle to Roosevelt's own personal errors of judgment. This consensus, if accepted, leads inevitably to the conclusion that Roosevelt in the past has been overrated as a master politician and that his own overconfidence has been his worst enemy. These points are made:

1. Presidential advisers were divided as to whether to make the first big fight of the new administration on the court or for a wage-hour bill. Friend and foe now agree that Roosevelt in February could virtually have dictated the type of wage-hour law he wanted. Instead, Roosevelt decided to make his big fight on court reform.

2. Only one or two of the President's advisers favored the court-packing plan before it was launched. Sheer self-confidence plus Roosevelt's love for bold gesture in attack, along with a desire for immediate results, led the President to choose the packing plan.

3. With the court fight on in full fury, Roosevelt engaged in it only nonchalantly. He was so sure of himself, so sure that his prestige would carry the bill, that he never really got behind it. When he went breezily off to Texas for a vacation he left no organized leadership of his cause behind him and the battle on his side lost momentum while the other side made progress.

4. Roosevelt underestimated popular faith in the Supreme Court as one of the established institutions of government.

The fact appears to stand out that Roosevelt's nonchalant self-assurance led to the great mess which was the first session of the 75th Congress. His friends hope he has learned a lesson and his enemies hope he hasn't.

Three factors may have some bearing on this point:

1. The court fight, according to administration plans, will continue in one form or another.

2. Roosevelt still believes he has the support of the "masses of the people," and that they support what he calls his "mandate" and are willing to see to it that he gets what he wants. Roosevelt fooled himself in the court fight, however, when he sat back to wait for his opponents "to hear from the country."

3. The administration will not help any anti-court member in next year's primaries and may go through with present plans to knife such members. Farley denied this in his Indianapolis speech to Young Democrats, but Senator Guffey's speech, in favor of knifing, which brought him such a terrific lacing from Senators Wheeler, Burke, O'Mahoney, Holt, and others, was secretly applauded by most New Dealers.

As long as Roosevelt thinks along these lines, only one pretense of a prediction is possible:

Nobody knows where it all will end.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

KATHLEEN O'SHAN—heroine, writer of greeting card verse.

BOB McTAVISH—hero, detective story writer.

PAT—the janitor who played Cupid.

The DUCHESS—patron of surrealist art.

PROFESSOR BRACEY—Egyptologist.

CHAPTER VI

Bob had occasion to ask himself this question about the professor more than once during the afternoon. The tall Egyptologist had immediately sought out Kathleen and the rest of the time he proceeded to monopolize her so that no one else had a chance to say anything to her.

Several times Bob saw her glance his way as though she hoped he would rescue her, but there was no way for him to escape the Duchess, who kept him persistently at her side, hanging on his arm and laughing up at him in the most provocative manner. She lavished caresses on the unresponsive Schmatz and chattered about art and Bob's writing and how much she was going to enjoy having him for a neighbor, until his head swam trying to keep up with her.

"I can see how you can write red-blooded, he-man tales," she said, dropping down on the couch Pat had moved so regularly. "You're so virile and so romantic-looking yourself. Do sit down and tell me about yourself."

Bob looked down at her hair with a little laugh, smothering a desire t otweak the straying locks. "It's because I like to eat, lady," he told her, edging away a little. "There isn't anything but the desire to live that would make me slay as many men as I do—if you get what I mean." He tried to turn it off jestingly, but found it hard to disregard the look in the woman's long-lashed eyes. A dangerous woman, he decided. One he'd hate to have on his trial.

But if the Duchess was conscious of his uneasiness, the Duchess did not show it. She only took his hand in both her slender ones and sighed. "You can't think how lonely I really am. That's why I'm always reaching out for friendship, for someone I can trust and in whom I can confide. That's why I liked you the minute I saw you. You seemed so honest and different somehow."

"Chatter!" thought Bob as he looked at her. "This is getting too much. I'd better beat it while I can."

"I'm all of that, lady," he laughed. "And now I must be taking my pup out for his afternoon run. If I don't he'll be tearing around so, the janitor'll probably request us to move. Thanks for asking us to your party."

He put the dog down and started for the door. Then he paused. He'd hunt up Kathleen first and tell her he would see her later, and make his escape. He wouldn't be snagged into such a mess again. If necessary he'd hang out a smallpox sign to warn off the Duchess. The less he saw of her the better. Pat had had her number all right when he said such a frowsy head likely topped a lot of mischief.

But it was one thing to wish to talk to Kathleen and another to do it. The professor had her shut off in a small corner that was intended for only two. She, too, had been having rather a difficult time of it. At first she was flattered by the preference of the older man, especially as she was still feeling squelched by the calm way the Duchess had captured Bob and borne him off, and irritated at Bob for letting her do it. But there was something about the smooth-spoken professor with his flashing black eyes and insinuating smile that sent a little ripple of fear across her mind. Who was this mysterious person who talked so glibly of famous people and places, who seemed to have crowded so much into his lifetime?

* * *

"Are you pleased to make my acquaintance or not, my dear?" the professor was asking her, leaning closer.

"Well—oh, yes, of course." She smiled up at him. "You see that's partly why I wanted to come to the city. In Gloversville we didn't have a chance to meet many interesting people. It was all very narrow and conventional, you know." Her eyes strayed to where the Duchess and Bob had been sitting.

The professor's eyes followed her glance and he asked, "You know the young man the Duchess seems so interested in? Perhaps h ecame from your home town, too?"

"Oh, no," answered Kathleen. "I never saw Mr. McTavish until he rented a studio here. He's very nice and his dog has such a cute, yearning look."

"Yes, yearning is the word." The professor's tone was sarcastic. "The pooch yearns for nothing so much as to take a slice out of me, for some unknown reason. That's what makes me question the niceness of his master. Dogs often reflect their owners, you know. But then the Duchess seems to like him well enough already."

"What do you mean?" Kathleen's expression frankly showed her concern.

"Women like the Duchess, my dear, collect men just as they add jewels to their collectins. She's still young, interesting looking and has plenty of money. Enough said. Has she told you about her emerald yet? No! It ranks up with the Hope diamond and some of the crown jewels of Europe. You'll hear of it in time. At the present she's more interested in the young man, and when the Duchess sets her mind on acquiring anything, she gets it."

* * *

Kathleen straightened up. "I don't know why you're telling me all this," she said coldly. "I hardly know either our hostess or Mr. McTavish, and of course it wouldn't mean a thing to me if they did become interested in each other." In spite of herself her lips quivered a little as she said it, and the lonely feeling came back with a rush.

It had been so different since that day Bob's battered desk had been carried up the stairs, and she had grown to listen for Schmatz's scampering feet. But of course this rich, fascinating woman would be more interesting than herself. At any rate the worldly wise professor didn't seem to mind it. She turned to him with her best smile.

"At least, Professor Bracey, I feel you're my friend, aren't you?"

"Yes." He lifted her hand and touched his lips to the soft palm. Just then Bob came upon them.

"Say, I'm sorry," he said in some embarrassment. "I—I seem to be making it a crowd. I just wanted to say goodby, Kathleen. I've been trying to get a word with you—"

"We noticed how hard you were trying, McTavish," Professor Bracey turned and looked at him with a sarcastic smile. "We were just remarking on it in fact, you and the Duchess—"

A snarl from Schmatz interrupted him. Before Bob could prevent it the dog snapped at Bracey.

"Damned cur!" A well-placed kick from the professor threw the little terrier hard against a tall brass vase that stood on the floor. There was a crash and the dog rushed across the room, dashing straight through the Duchess' painting that was leaning against the wall. He left a gaping, jagged hole in the "Dream of Youth."

BRENNER TALKS TO LIONS CLUB

Members and Ladies at Minor's Enjoy Fine Program

The Manistique Lions club members and their ladies held an enjoyable social meeting Tuesday evening at Deerpath lodge, Minor's Beach, at which a fine program was presented.

City Manager P. H. Beauvais broke the news to the crowd that the city's PWA project had been approved and an allotment of federal funds released, after which he gave a detailed account of the procedure to be followed by the city in completing the construction work. He also revealed the city's hopes to have the entire work completed before the tourist season next summer.

Dr. A. J. Brenner, director of the district health unit, also addressed the group, explaining the work of the Alger-Schoolcraft health unit. He declared that the health department is primarily designed to check the spread of communicable diseases, and that its work is preventive rather than curative.

Peterson Entertains

Dr. Brenner outlined the functions of the various members of the health department staff and showed how the department is continually striving to improve health conditions in this area.

The speaker told his audience that the sanitation engineer of the health unit checks the water and milk supply of the district and that only this week found that two springs near Munising from which hundreds of persons had been drinking this summer are contaminated and the water unfit for human consumption. These springs have been closed and will not be reopened until it is conclusively proved that the condition which is causing the contamination has been remedied, he said.

Paul Peterson, formerly of Manistique, who recently was appointed music supervisor at Rochester, N. Y., schools, and who is now visiting at the home of his mother here, was a guest at the meeting and pleased the group with several vocal and piano selections. He also led the crowd in group singing. A masterful pianist and possessed with a fine, well trained voice, Mr. Peterson was applauded loudly by his appreciative audience.

Others who spoke briefly at the meeting were Dr. E. L. Schatzman, club president, Rev. George Wahlin and Lion Frank Gierke, who acted as toastmaster.

Assault, Battery Charge Dismissed

The assault and battery charge against Arthur DeMars of Cooks was quashed in justice court Tuesday afternoon, upon motion of Prosecuting Attorney W. J. Sheahan. The complainant in the case was Mrs. George DeMars, also of Cooks, who alleged that Arthur DeMars assaulted her Aug. 6 in Inwood township. DeMars pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned Aug. 17 and trial was set for Aug. 24, when the case was quashed.

CITY REJOICES AT PWA GRANT

Storm Sewers Might Be Laid This Fall, Says City Manager

Civic minded citizens of Manistique rejoiced yesterday as a result of the announcement from Washington that the municipal improvement project filed by Manistique officials with the Public Works administration had been allotted $43,364 grant of federal money as the government's 45 per cent contribution to the proposed $97,000 construction program.

First notices of the release of the money to Manistique was received here Tuesday afternoon in telegrams sent by Rep. John Luecke, Senator Prentiss M. Brown and the secretary to Senator Arthur Vandenberg. Official confirmation was received yesterday in the form of a telegram from I. D. Brent, state PWA director.

Mr. Brent's telegram follows: "This administration has allotted to city of Manistique, Michigan, docket 1328 grant of $43,364 for construction of storm sewers, street paving and street lighting subject to terms and conditions of format. Government offer and letter enclosing same to follow."

Sewer Work First

Specifically the project calls for the following improvements: concrete pavement on Arbutus avenue from Maple to Cedar, on Cedar street from Arbutus to River, on River street from Cedar to Elk, and on Oak street from Maple to Cedar; relief storm sewers in Cedar street and River street; and boulevard lighting over the same route as the paving will be done, but also extending on Deer street to Fifth street.

City Manager P. H. Beauvais declared yesterday that a mass of preliminary details must be worked out before actual construction can be started.

"However, if we can speed the preliminary work as we plan to do and get full cooperation from the PWA officials, we hope to be able to lay the relief storm sewers before winter. If we can do that, we will have all winter to permit the backfill over the sewer job to consolidate, and early next spring we will be able to lay the concrete so that we will have modern streets by the time the influx of tourists starts next summer," Mr. Beauvais visioned yesterday.

If the construction work can be started this fall, the work of cutting away a foot and a half of the sidewalks on both sides of Cedar street and the laying of the bases for the boulevard lamp standards will probably also be done before winter.

All of the work to be done under PWA supervision must be done by contract, which of course, necessitates the advertising for bids and the awarding of contracts on the various jobs before construction work can begin.

All of the labor used on the project probably will be secured from the certified lists of the national reemployment service. However, these persons need not be from relief families. It is likely that the wage scales to be paid to the laborers will be fixed by the city council in the plans and specifications submitted to prospective contractors.

On August 11, 1936 the taxpayers of the city of Manistique approved a bond issue of $53,000 to pay the city's portion of the cost of completing the civic improvement program.

SEEK WAY TO AID SCHOOLS

Curtailed Year Likely Unless Help Is Given

Ways and means of assisting the Gladstone public school system faced with a shortage this year because of a change in the allocation of taxes were discussed Tuesday evening when members of the board of education met jointly with the city commission.

Gladstone schools lose approximately $3,800 this year because of a reduction of 2 mills in the levy usually allocated for school purposes.

Supt. A. R. Watson submitted a report which contained items of present school expense which he believed could be assumed by the city. Included were operation of the library totalling $2,197.19, taking over of recreation and health activities totalling $2,048.14 and operating expenses: light, power and water amounting to $1,593.99.

James T. Jones, president of the board, reviewed briefly the history of the library and expressed the belief that maintenance of both the library and health service is really a city function.

It was pointed out by commissioners that while the city is willing to assist in any way possible and as soon as possible that apparently little could be done until next April because of the fact the city budget is set and adopted for the year.

School men indicated that unless aid was forthcoming before next year schools would be forced to close earlier next year.

It was decided to have City Manager E. H. Waterhouse and Supt. Watson confer and determine if any plan can be worked out to give the schools some assistance.

APPROVE BUDGET

The annual school budget which set estimated expenditures for the coming school year at $82,900.36 of which $13,111.38 will be raised through local taxation was approved by the city commission Tuesday night.

OKEH CONTRACT WITH POWER CO.

Comish and Officers Agree on 5-Year Period

The Upper Michigan Light and Power company will continue to furnish electricity to the city of Gladstone, it being decided to enter into a five year contract with the power company.

A group of power company officers including M. N. Smith, treasurer; Con Driscoll, assistant treasurer, and E. F. Zuehlke, manager, appeared before the commission Tuesday night to negotiate for a contract.

It was pointed out that if the company is to prepare for a considerable increase in consumption in this area entailing considerable expense it must have the assurance that the service will be used for a sufficiently long period of time.

The company has spent about $12,000 in running heavier copper into Gladstone from the No. 1 dam to the local sub-station and plans are now being made to enlarge and revamp the sub-station in order to provide better service locally.

The commission approved entering into a five year contract and authorized City Atty. Glen W. Jackson to draw the instrument. Terms will be similar to previous contract except that the demand charge will be on a monthly instead of annual basis, resulting in a saving to the city of around $800.

Miss Vivi Prince has returned from Kenosha, Wis., where she has been spending the past several weeks visiting with her sister.

LOCAL BONDS SOLD TO BANK

Comish Accepts Thompson Bid on Sidewalk Repairs

The First National Bank in Gladstone was the successful bidder for $13,500 in special assessment bonds, it was disclosed following opening of bids at the commission meeting Tuesday evening.

The local bank offered par plus a premium of one per cent.

A total of $16,00 in bonds was advertised for sale but the city bought two issues in the amount of $2,700.

There was only one other bid, that of Mrs. Inga Mathison who requested $5,000 worth of bonds but did not offer a premium or specify which bonds were desired.

Included in the entire group were Delta avenue paving, 8th to 11th, $5,900; Delta avenue paving, 7th to 8th, $1,900; Seventh street paving, Wisconsin to Delta, $1,900; Eleventh street paving, Delta to Superior, $800; and Minneapolis sewer, 4th to 18th, $5,900.

The bid of T. W. Thompson, local contractor, to repair sidewalks in about 40 various places in the city was accepted conditionally. Thompson bid $672.01 on an estimated 3786 square feet or 17 3-4 cents per square foot. The bid was accepted providing Thompson would use expansion strips between each plate.

Several of the walks included on the list upon which Thompson bid have since been repaired, so if conditions set by the commission are acceptable the contractor will be paid on a square foot basis and not the total amount of his bid.

By FREDERICK GARDNER
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Aug. 25 (AP)—Stock prices were whittled down fractions to a point or more in quiet dealings today.

Failure of steels to hold ground after an early rise and softness in rails despite hopeful brokerage predictions for this group chilled sentiment, analysts said.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .3 of a point to 67.3. Transactions totalled 497,310 shares, the smallest since June 21, compared with 558,440 in the preceding session.

Statistical entries on the industrial ledger were mixed. Continuing its upswing electric power rose to the highest level on record. "Iron Age" noted the steel industry's improvement had lost some energy.

Wall Street opinion explained in part the skimpy activity. It included doubt about the rate of corporate profit gains and advice to buy medium-priced bonds.

U. S. government and corporate bonds declined on small volume. At Chicago wheat was up 1-8 to ¾ of a cent a bushel. Corn was 1½ higher to 3-8 down. Cotton yielded 25 to 55 cents a bale.

Share losers were U. S. Steel at 113 3-8, Republic Steel 36 3-8, Santa Fe 75½, Baltimore & Ohio 26 1-8, Illinois Central 23 3-8, New York Central 37 7-8, Southern Pacific 42½, Anaconda 57 1-8, Socony 21 3-8, Chrysler 111¼, General Motors 56¼, Goodyear 40 1-8, Sears Roebuck 94 3-8, Texas Corp. 60 1-8, Westinghouse 150½, Electric Power & Light 20¾ and International Nickel 63 7-8.

A handful of issues resistant at gains of fractions to a point or more were American Can at 107 58, American Metal 54½, Columbia Gas & Electric 12½, McKesson & Robbins 13 5-8, Penney 100 1-8, U. S. Smelting 88 and Worthington Pump 40.

Downward Trend General On Curb

New York, Aug. 25 (AP)—The curb market lumbered along on light volume today with fractional price shifts favoring the down side.

Mining shares lifted a little. Utilities and oils wavered.

Newmont Mining climbed 2 points to 103. Lake Shore Mines, Mesabi Iron and Pioneer Gold were fractionally improved.

Other gainers included American Gas & Electric at 33½, up ¼; International Petroleum at 35, up ½; and Sunray Oil at 4 3-8, up a fraction.

Aluminum Co. slumped 3½ to 150. Down fractions to around a point were Electric Bond & Share, Cord Corp., Creole Petroleum, United Wall Paper, Sherwin Williams, American Light & Traction and Cities Service.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 25—Wheat lost an early advance of 1¼ cents a bushel today but closed slightly higher than yesterday as a result of buying attributed to previous sellers and traders encouraged by the market's stubborn firmness so far this week.

Trading was quiet and prices fluctuated nervously over a range of about 1 3-4 cents but there was no pronounced selling pressure. Further small sales of North American wheat for export were reported but the business was disappointing and this, together with other unsettling factors, comprised the bearish market picture which even optimistic bulls could not disregard.

Wheat closed 1-8 to 3-4 higher compared with yesterday's finish, September 1.05½ to 1.055 -8, December 1.07¼ to 1.073 -8, May 1.09½ to 1.09 5-8; corn was 1½ up to 3-8 down, September 98 3-8 to 98½, December 65 3-8 to 65½; May 66½; oats 1-8 ot ½ down, September 28½; rye 2¼ to 2½ higher, September 79½; provisions 7 to 23 cents lower.

After holding the maximum advance fairly well most of the session, wheat tumbled to ½ cent below the previous close during the final hour, only to rally from this point. Persistent pressure of hedge sales and moderate liquidation took the market lower whenever buying subsided.

New York, Aug. 25 (AP)—Federal loans faltered, but domestic corporates trod a narrow and uneven path in a slow bond market today.

Support was lacking in most groups in what some traders called an "investor's holiday." Bond circles were reported feeling some apprehension over coming federal financing.

Transactions in federals dwindled but some treasury issues were off as much as 12-32 of a point.

Carrier obligations buckled a little. The Associated Press averages for 20 rail issues showed a decline of .1 of a point to 90.2.

Industrials presented a few bright spots but no concerted uptrend was evident. The average for 10 industrials was unchanged at 103.0. The bond community's interest was focused on announcement American Water Works & Electric Co. would undertake financing to simplify its corporate structure.

Among gainers were American & Foreign Power 5s at 74¼, up 1¼; International Hydro Electric 6s at 82½, up 1; Southern Pacific 4½s at 84 5-8, up ½; Northern Pacific 4s at 103¾, up 3-8; and Bethlehem Steel 4¼s at 104 5-8, up 1-8.

Off fractions were Santa Fe 4s, St. Paul 5s, New Haven 6s, Anaconda 4½s, American Water Works 6s and Bethlehem Steel 3¾s.

Detroit Brown Bomber Defends Title Tonight

BENGALS WHIP ATHLETICS, 10-4

York, Gehringer and Greenberg Continue Heavy Clouting

Detroit, Aug. 25 (AP)—The big guns of the Tigers, Rudy York, Charley Gehringer and Hank Greenberg, continued their heavy clouting Wednesday as Detroit walloped Philadelphia 10 to 4 in the final appearance of the Athletics at Navin Field this season.

York, who hit three home runs in a double-header against the Mackmen Tuesday, got his twenty-sixth circuit smash of the season in the second inning. The blow was made off George Caster and Charley Gehringer and Hank Greenberg were on base at the time. On Tuesday the sacks were empty when York hit each of his three homers. York also drove out two singles to drive in five runs during the day.

Auker Gives Six Hits

Gehringer, leading batsman of the American League, had a spectacular day at the plate, getting a homer, double, two singles and a walk in five appearances to boost his percentage of .389 and take a commanding lead in the slugging race.

Greenberg drove out three doubles in four trips to the plate.

Elden Auker went the route for Detroit and gave but six hits as he chalked up his tenth win of the year. He has been beaten eight times.

George Caster started for the A's and had even less luck that he did on Tuesday when he was batted out by Detroit.

The Tigers jumped on the luckless Caster for four runs in the first. After Gerald Walker had fouled out, Pete Fox singled to center. Gehringer doubled down the third base line, scoring Fox. Greenberg doubled off the scoreboard, scoring Gehringer. York singled to center, scoring Greenberg. Chester Laabs flied out to Bob Johnson. Marvin Owen dougled off the scoreboard, sending York home. Billy Rogell walked. Auker forced Rogell to end the frame.

Jesse Hill, fleet footed Philadelphia center fielder who has been batting sensationally recently, scored a run for the A's in the second. After one man was out, Hill singled to left. Earl Brucker also singled, Hill going to third. Hill came home on Newsome's infield out.

Detroit got three more runs in its half. Walker led off with a single to center. Fox lined to Wally Moses in right. Gehringer singled to left, Walker trying for third and being thrown out, Johnson to Werber. Greenberg walked. York then drove the ball over the left field fence for his homer. Laabs walked. Owen popped.

Former All-American Star From Minnesota Visits In Escanaba

Gary

Mike Gary, all Big Ten tackle from Minnesota during the days of the great Herb Joesting and Bronk Nagurski, paid Escanaba a visit yesterday with Tim Barry, Kingsford high school basketball coach and popular football and basketball official.

Gary, 230 pounds of husky, well bulit manhood, has been head football coach at Western State Teachers' college at Kalamazoo for the past nine years, turning out some giant-killing teams in that time. He is making a tour of the Upper Peninsula, interviewing likely prospects for Western State Teachers' college this fall.

The former Gopher luminary who, along with Pete Hanson, made one of the most famous tackle-guard combinations in Minnesota history, is a tall, broad-shouldered chap and appears to be in as fine condition as the days in 1923-24-25 when he roamed the range for Coach Doc Spears up at Minneapolis.

Gets Smashed Up

"Those were the days," Gary said, "of the great Michigan team of Friedman, Oosterbaan, Flop Flora, Baer, Gilbert and others and we had some merry old battles. In one game that year, an opponent's pass fell into my hands and gave me what I thought was a perfect chance to make a touchdown, straight down the field with no one in sight. I started down the field with the goal line beckoning 60 yards away. About half way down the field, a big guy cracked me a vicious one and I went sailing about 20 yards out of bounds and across a cinder track right on my face. I thought for a minute my days were through but I came out of it with nothing more than a badly battered face."

Gary will open football practice at Western State on September 7 and expects to have a fairly good team this fall. Last year, his team, which he admitted was not a world beater, was composed of nine sophomores and he expects much of them this fall. His team is facing a stiff schedule, the University of Detroit being one of the opening games.

Praises Hal Reynolds

"I hope Gust Dorais keeps thinking about that All-Star game so much that he forgets his own boys at least until after our game," Gary said.

"We had one sweet boy from the Upper Peninsula," the husky Western mentor said, "in Hal Reynolds of Stambaugh. If we only had a few more of his calibre, I wouldn't worry too much. Hal is assistant coach at Flint Northern and doing a good job."

Barry, who accompanied Gary, has just returned from a basketball coaching school at Logansport, Indiana, and is ready for another big season at Kingsford. He expects to have players two and three deep for every position and has his fingers crossed.

Crippled Giants Beat Cubs Twice, 8-7, 4-2

BY ALAN GOULD

New York, Aug. 25 (AP)—The crippled New York Giants put aside their crutches today, beat the pace-making Chicago Cubs twice, and put themselves right back in the thick of the National league pennant race while a seething, near-capacity crowd of 49,707 at the Polo grounds went wild.

The double-triumph cut the Cubs' lead from four to two games.

Trailing by five runs in the ninth inning of the first game after their ace southpaw, Carl Hubbell, had been subjected to heavy fire, the Giants tied the score with the aid of a three-run homer by Jimmy Ripple and won, 8 to 7, in the eleventh.

Having thus pulled themselves from the brink of disaster, with the aid of their opponents' mistakes as well as their own fighting spirit, the champions came right back to blast left-handed Larry French and capture the second tilt, 4 to 2, with an electrifying surge of power and defensive skill.

Harry Gumbert, youthful right-hander, capitalized the dramatic fruits of the opening triumph by scattering seven Cub hits and batting in what proved the winning run, in the second game. Gumbert was supported by the slugging of Joe Moore, who hit a homer and double, and Hank Leiber, the blonde bomber, who connected for a 460-foot triple in the fourth and sewed up the game with a circuit clout in the sixth. Leiber also contributed a circus catch of a short fly from the bat of Lonnie Frey, in the sixth, that helped stop a menacing Chicago rally, with two on base.

Only an extraordinary combination of circumstances, including costly Chicago base-running and fielding mistakes, enabled the Giants to pull the opener out of the fire with as exciting a rally as the Polo Grounds has known in years. Held to two runs by big Bill Lee for eight innings, while the Cubs piled up a 7-2 margin against the combined hurling of Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, the Giants looked to be thoroughly licked and on their way out of the pennant race.

The "goat" of that amazing finish was Billy Herman, the great second sacker of the Cubs, whose two errors, in the 9th and 11th frames, paved the way for his team's downfall. The hero was the red-headed Ripple, whose homer climaxed the five-run rally that tied the score in the ninth. Ripple, on base as a result of Herman's second miscue in the 11th, also tallied the winning run as hits by Leiber and Hank Danning brought him around the bases. The last six New York runs were unearned.

The big crowd turned loose a five-minute demonstration after Ripple's circuit clout fell into the lower right-field stands, with Moore and Dick Bartell on base. The field was littered with hats, papers and score-cards. The blow topped off a rally to which the Cubs contributed almost as much as the Giants.

Danning began the ninth with a single, but Whitehead fouled out and the visiting infield missed two double-play chances in succession. Herman threw wildly on pinch-hitter Wally Berger's grounder after poaching on shortstop Billy Jurges' territory to grab the ball. Jurges then fumbled Moore's roller. Danning scored on the second misplay, Berger trotted home on Bartell's single to center, and Ripple cleaned the bases.

Lee was lifted after Ott doubled, for his fourth straight hit, and Leiber walked, but it took two relief hurlers, French and Curt Davis, to keep the Giants from making off with the game then and there. The base-runners advanced on McCarthy's infield out, and Danning was intentionally passed to fill the bags. Davis then took the box and Whitehead hit into a force play.

The Cubs ran the bases like the Brooklyn Dodgers in their daffiest days. Five straight hits off Hubbell, in the first inning, produced only two runs. Augie Galan was caught at the plate on an attempted double steal with Herman. Demaree was tagged out for third on Gabby Hartnett's single to left. Hartnett was caught off first in the ninth after driving home the Cubs' seventh run.

Hubbell, although saved from absorbing his eighth defeat, was far from his best. The screwball master lacked his usual control. Errors by Ott and Danning contributed to his difficulties in one frame, the seventh, when the Cubs scored three times. Don Brennan, the winning pitcher, held the Cubs hitless in the last two frames. Brennan, once with the Yankees and later with the Reds joined the Giant staff only a few weeks ago.

Leiber and Ott, with five hits apiece for their day's work, shared batting honors with Ripple and Danning, who got four safeties in the first game. Leiber was robbed of a home run in the fourth inning of the opener when a fan interfered with his terrific shot to the top of the wall in front of the left-field stands. It was ruled a two-bagger under ground regulations.

TICKET SALES NOT TOO GOOD

Public Gives Welshman Bare Outside Chance to Beat Louis

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Aug. 25. (AP)—Joe Louis, the 23-year-old fistic sensation from Detroit, makes the first defense of his recently-won heavyweight title against Tommy Farr, British Empire champion, at the Yankee Stadium tomorrow night.

The weather man didn't promise to be any too kind about it. After several days of almost continuous rain, which threw a heavy damper over the ticket sale, the forecast today was that tomorrow night will be cloudy with showers possible.

Even with this prediction, the outlook is for a crowd of between 30,000 and 40,000 and a gate of around $250,000.

Today's sunshine brought with it a spurt in the movement of pasteboards to gladden the heart of Promoter Mike Jacobs who insisted that with another day of fair weather "I'll fool them yet."

Mike Predicts Rush

Mike has said all along the fight would not do less than $300,000 and he stuck to that figure today, adding that if box office business continues brisk tomorrow, the house might gross even more.

If a postponement is necessary, the bout will be held Friday night.

"This is a last day fight town," said Jacobs. "You'll see 'em rushing for tickets tomorrow. I just turned down an order for 100 ringsides. The cheaper seats will go tomorrow. I've got 20 ticket offices open and they're all doing business."

The young Brown Bomber, who blasted the heavyweight crown from James J. Braddock's head at Chicago last June, continued to rule an overwhelming favorite over the Welshman who sprang into the fistic spotlight by beating Max Baer in London some months ago.

Odds 6 to 1

Odds, which had been stationary at 4 to 1 for a week, shot to 6 to 1 today and Broadway gamblers said they might reach 7 to 1 by the time Louis and Farr climb into the ring at approximately 9 o'clock (E.S.T.) tomorrow night, depending on the amount of Farr money showing up tonight and tomorrow.

Bookmakers report very little action. They attribute the light betting to the fact that the public apparently gives the Welshman little more than an outside chance to upset the dope and trim the hard-hitting negro.

In an Associated Press poll of 25 New York, out of town and British boxing writers, only one was found—John MacAdam of the London Sunday Dispatch — who picked Farr to win. Most of them think Louis will stop the Britisher well within 12 rounds.

Louis and Farr, both trained to the minute, took things easy at their training camps at Pompton Lakes and Long Beach, N. J., today preparatory to motoring into town for the weighing in ceremonies at noon before the state athletic commission.

Both have put in many weeks of hard work. Farr has not been impressive in many of his drills, but he has shown a quality of boxing which some experts think may prove decidedly annoying to the champion. His confidence is superb.

Farr, also 23, was virtually unknown in this country until he whipped Baer, but he has been fighting throughout England and Wales for years and picked up plenty of experience and ring knowledge.

No fault can be found with Louis' condition. He fights regularly and keeps himself in trim both mentally and physically. He is hitting as hard as ever and has improved his boxing. Louis expects to weigh in at 198 tomorrow. Farr's fighting weight is 204 and he is down to that now.

Farr feels he is faster and smarter than Louis and rugged enough to take the champ's terrific punches. He has no set plan of action but said in a pre-fight statement today he is confident of winning.

Louis said he is prepared for any style of fight the Welshman may offer. "If he runs I'll be ready and if he rushes I'm set for that. I hope to knock him out, but will not name the round. But I'll end the fight as early as possible."

Jinx Licked, Yanks Take Sox, 10 and 5; Lee Pounded Hard

Chicago, Aug. 25 (AP)—The New York Yankees had a cinch with their one-time jinx, Thornton Lee, today and coasted in with a 10 to 5 victory over the White Sox to maintain their 10½ game lead in the American league race.

They clubbed Lee to the showers in less than four innings, piled up a 7-3 lead before the fifth inning started, and breezed in from there without much difficulty as Bump Hadley, although tagged for ten hits, tightened up with men on base.

Although they were shut out in their homer-hitting specialty, they landed on Lee and Duncan Rigney for a dozen hits, three of them by little Don Heffner, who filled in for the ailing Tony Lazzeri at second base, and drove three runs across.

Six Runs Scored In 2 Innings As Bucs Blank Bees

Boston, Aug. 25. (AP)—Scoring six runs in the first two innings, the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Boston Bees 6 to 0 in the Beehive today before 3,500 fans.

The biggest factor in the game was the 12-hit attack of the powerful Pirates led by the big stick of Lloyd Waner, center-fielder. But hardly less spectacular was the pitching of Russ Bauers, Pirate rookie who held the Bees to six hits and won his fifth consecutive victory.

Score by innings:

Eskymo Grid Practice Opens Here On Monday

All candidates for the Escanaba high school football team this fall have been requested to be present at the opening practice session which will be held Monday morning at the athletic field, Coach Carl Nordberg informed the Daily Press last night in a call from Mackinac Island, where he has been employed during the summer months.

Nordberg will arrive in Escanaba Sunday and be ready to issue equipment and start practice Monday morning. It is necessary that practice be started on Monday in order to have the three weeks that is required this year by the state association.

The daily practice schedule for the first week will be from 9:30 to 11:30 in the mornings and 2 until 4 in the afternoons. Classy new equipment, such as that used by Notre Dame, will be given the boys this year. The local school is able to fully equip 95 boys.

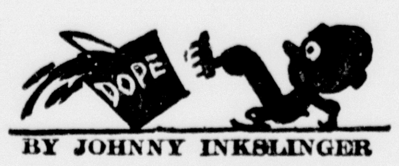
Nordberg said last night:

"I shall expect 100% turnout on the first day for practice—our first week is the foundation of our team. I hope all the boys will be in good condition when they report. It is necessary for them to be in good condition and remain that way if we expect to produce a fighting team able to endure the rigors of tough competition such as that which we will have to face this fall."

The local mentor is comparatively optimistic about the outlook despite the fact that he will have only two regulars back, Capt. Billy Peterson and Lyle Utt, both ends. He said he will have a bunch of chaps fighting for all positions who can block and tackle.

"Boys who can tackle and block and have the fighting spirit can make any team. These are the boys we are looking for to build this year's Escanaba team," Nordberg said last night.

SPILLING the DOPE



BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

The subject of a city football team for this fall already has popped up and we are looking for the reactions of the football public in general and players and others personally interested as well . . . we should like to hear from anyone who has any ideas or suggestions on independent football this fall . . . or from anyone interested in starting a team . . . if a local team is to be started this fall, now is the time to do something.

—o—

Anent the independent football subject, Nibs Murray sports editor of the Iron River Reporter, writes us:

"I am asking your cooperation in the matter of a football league in this part of the U. P. . . . experience in the past few years has been that teams from Wisconsin do not draw well and that the teams have not been successful financially . . . it is the view here that if a loop could be formed the teams could be made to pay . . . furthermore, the question of guarantees could be uniformly with each team having home games and the question of loss could be practically nullified . . . it is getting late now but you can't talk football much earlier . . . if all interested cities went to work immediately the league could begin functioning by shortly after the middle of September . . . possible entries besides Escanaba and Stambaugh would be Ishpeming, Marquette, Manistique, Iron Mountain, Negaunee and possibly Ironwood or Bessemer.

To Murray, we'd say the idea is a good one . . . and we'll do all we can to help it along in our section . . . however, having seen the workings of local teams in the past few years, we are somewhat skeptical as to local success . . . football overhead is terrific . . . uniforms, grounds, officials, salaries, insurance, traveling expenses and the like and local teams have had a pretty tough job the past couple of years . . . we shall be mighty glad to add what impetus we can give to the idea — does anyone have any suggestions?

Five Favorite Wet Flies For Trout Fishing

BY O. WARREN SMITH

Any fly-fisherman is glad to give his opinion upon this topic, well knowing it is but his opinion. One comes to know, almost instinctively, what particular wet fly to employ under any given stream condition. This stream knowledge is of prime importance. To illustrate:

One of the northern streams which I have fished for half a lifetime is a puzzle to many anglers, especially after showers, when the water becomes somewhat opaque. Well, I have discovered that a Black Prince, shorn of wings, tail and hackle, will take rainbow when everything else fails. The Black Prince is one of my favorite flies, standing fifth in point of preference. Not only good under such conditions as I have mentioned, but fairly good generally. On the streams I have fished there are many tiny black flies to be seen upon the water. The red "tail" of the Prince adds to its attractivity.

My fourth selection would be the McGinty, sometimes called the Western Bee. It is especially fine in dry, hot weather when bees are much in evidence. A midsummer fly. I do not know that bees are favorite food for trout, I only know that in my experience the black-striped, yellow-bodied counterfeit presentment of the bee is very taking. As a rule yellow is a poor color, but in the combination of the bee it is very much worth while.

My third selection will just have to be Wickham's Fancy, a fly which has companioned me for lo these many years and holds its place without rival. It, too, is a good mid-summer fly, but it is also effective early in the season, if the water is clear. In mid-summer, when streams are low and preternaturally clear, the smallest sizes in this pattern will work miracles.

In my fishing experience there is no question as to which today has second place, having crowded the one just mentioned to third. I refer to Brown Hackle. Here is a great fly and I can almost wax enthusiastic in its praise. It is good all season through, and especially attractive, in small sizes, in mid-summer. It is a meadow fly par excellence in grasshopper time, why I do not undertake to say. It is good when streams are cloudy in the larger sizes, and as streams shrink and clear, the wise angler reduces the size. This holds true for all trout flies in daytime.

So we arrived at the first fly last. The tried and true, almost uniformly successful Royal Coachman, unlike any living insect I ever saw above a trout stream. There is something peculiarly attractive about its flamboyant coloring (red, white and black) that arrests the attention of trout and seems fairly to compel them to strike. When everything else fails, I turn to the Royal Coachman; and whether or not it is because I fish it with more confidence than anything else, I cannot say, I only know it wins fish. So, in conclusion, I pay enthusiastic tribute to the Royal Coachman.

Two-Game Series Swept By Senators

St. Louis, Aug. 25 (AP)—Buddy Myer drove in four runs with three singles as Washington won from St. Louis today 7 to 6 and swept the 2-game series.

And it was Myer's ninth inning sacrifice moving Joe Kuhel to third that placed the first baseman in position to score the winning run while Catcher Millies was being thrown out at first on a blow to deep short.

FELLER WHIFFS 16, WINS 8 TO 1

Boston Red Sox Grab Nightcap, 7 to 2, from Hudlin

Cleveland, Aug. 25 (AP)—Bob Feller, his curve ball streaking across the outside corner, today struck out 16 men—one less than the major league record he shares with Jerome (Dizzy) Dean—and carried the Cleveland Indians to an 8 to 1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The gold-plated invaders came back in the nightcap for a 7 to 2 triumph over Willis Hudlin, clinched with three-run outbursts in the seventh and eighth innings.

The 18-year-old Iowa schoolboy sent 12,000 fans into near-hysteria as he held the dangerous Sox to four hits in a mound duel with Buck Newsom.

Jimmy Foxx, Frank Higgins and Gene Desautels each fanned three times. Manager Joe Cronin, Roger Cramer and Eric McNair struck out twice. Dominic Dallesandro was the other victim. Ben Chapman made two of Boston's hits.

Steals on Wind-up

The Tribe's "wonder boyy' demonstrated his control—lack of which has cost him victories in the past—by walking only four men.

One of these, Dallesandro, stole second in the initial frame, continued to third on Frankie Pytlak's bad throw and stole home while Feller was winding up.

The victory was Feller's fourth of the season, against five defeats.

First game:

Boston ---- 100 000 000—1 4 1

Cleveland -- 020 105 00x—8 12 1

Newsom, Walberg, Olson, Gonzales and Desautels; Feller and Pytlak.

Cleveland -- 000 000 020—2 8 1

McKain, Wilson and Desautels; Hudlin, Wyatt, Heving, Brown and Pytlak.

Cardinals Clinch Twin Bill Behind Warneke, Johnson

Brooklyn, Aug. 25 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals breezed in with a doubleheader victory over the Dodgers today behind a pair of effective pitching performances by Lon Warneke and Si Johnson.

Warneke pitched a six-hitter and personally led the Gas House Gang at bat with a single and double, driving in two runs, to take the opener 4 to 2, for his 15th win of the year. Johnson pitched eight-hit ball while his mates belted Van Mungo out in less than two innings and coasted to a 5 to 2 decision in the nightcap.

Mungo had little of his stuff in the nightcap, and promptly took a walk to the showers when the Cards tagged him for three runs in the second frame.

First Game:

St. Louis_ 020 010 001—4 9 0

Brooklyn_ 001 010 000—2 6 3

Warneke and Owen; Hoyt, Cantwell and Phelps.

St. Louis_ 130 000 100—5 9 0

Brooklyn_ 100 000 010—2 8 1

Si Johnson and Owen; Mungo, Lindsey, Butcher and Spencer, Phelps.
